

Week 20 (1/27/03)

Collinear points

You are given a finite number of points in space with the property that any line that contains two of these points contains three of them. Prove that all the points must lie on a straight line.