

Week 41 (6/23/03)

Speedy travel

A straight tube is drilled between two points (not necessarily diametrically opposite) on the earth. An object is dropped into the tube. How much time does it take to reach the other end? Ignore friction, and assume (erroneously) that the density of the earth is constant.